Per State of Idaho Statute:

A license is not required for a homeowner performing electrical work on their primary or secondary residence. If you hire a contractor to perform any work, they will need to obtain their own permit for the work they are performing.

PDS may void the permit if it becomes clear the homeowner does not have the knowledge to complete the installation. Refunds are not available. The homeowner will be required to hire an electrical contractor to finish the job and pay a new permit fee.

A mandatory preliminary conference must be scheduled prior to beginning work.
